Task 4 Reflection

Task 4 helped me understand the importance of professional communication and proper email etiquette. I learned how to write emails with a clear subject line, polite greeting, and respectful tone. Writing professional emails is important when communicating with teachers, companies, or organizations.

While completing this task, I realized that using simple and clear language can prevent misunderstandings. I also created a social media Do's and Don'ts checklist, which helped me understand responsible online behavior. This task taught me how to communicate in a professional manner and use social media wisely.
